

May Johnson

Communication Manager, Digital Media Content

“I don’t know what gives me more pleasure on the tennis court - a competitive game or being with my friends.”

May Johnson joined the White Horse team in 2014. May manages promoting and marketing White Horse’s products and services through web-education, and digital inbound/outbound marketing so that a cohesive value proposition message is delivered to the market place.

May has 25 plus years of business experience in marketing, customer service, and sales effectiveness programs. Prior to White Horse, May held positions with a Fortune 100 company and other organizations in the US and abroad. She has experience as a marketing consultant for a number of small to medium sized companies by designing and managing the execution of marketing strategies for business growth.

May was educated in France and the UK with her work career eventually taking her to Canada. She has lived in Marietta since 1992 with her husband and two children. May enjoys playing tennis with her friends and is an Atlanta Lawn Tennis Association (ALTA) member.
